After recording & touring extensively with American Idol's Bo Bice, lead guitarist Kris Bell has begun his solo career. Delivering passionate, guitar-driven songs, American Rock is Kris' first solo EP, and has recently been featured on Nashville's 102.9 The Buzz. While Kris has been compared to Clapton and Vaughan, he brings a unique guitar sound all his own. Look for Kris' first full-length release coming soon on Wilderside!

More About Kris Bell

In April of 2005, Kris Bell moved from his hometown of San Diego to Nashville. Within one month, Kris was hired as the Lead Guitarist for American Idol star Bo Bice. For the next two years, Kris performed on numerous television programs, toured nationally, recorded on a major label record, and was featured in a number one music video on MTV and VH1.

In 2007, Kris began pursuing a solo career, bringing his captivating rock style to new fans from Georgia to California. On November 11th, Kris' five song EP American Rock was released. Kris blends captivating melodies with powerful guitar hooks, creating a bold, modern, American rock sound. Kris' songwriting stems from deep within him and flows out in warm, rich vocal tones on ballads such as "Letter of Goodbye", while belting out high-powered rock anthems "Livin' For Tomorrow" and "I Know the Sun Will Call" with soul and grit. Kris' dynamic guitar solos, which are reminiscent of Clapton and Vaughan, have his own signature flare of smooth, bluesy cries capped with intense and ferocious jamming.

American Rock is just a taste of what's to come from Kris' full length album Times Like These, set for release in early 2009.
